

Delivery Man Experience Survey

Prepared by: Vincent Omondi, UI/UX Designer

Date: 07/02/2024

Introduction

Hello,

My name is Vincent Omondi, and I'm part of the DeliverNow design team. We're working on improving the delivery experience for our runners. Your input will help us understand the challenges you face—such as inaccurate estimated delivery times, unnecessary cutlery or condiments affecting your workflow, and route allocation issues—so that we can design a better system. This survey will take approximately 5–7 minutes, and all responses will remain anonymous.

Thank you for sharing your insights!

Objective & Hypotheses

Objective:

To collect quantitative data on the challenges delivery men face during their daily deliveries, particularly regarding estimated delivery times, route allocations, and the usability of current tools.

Hypotheses:

- 1.A majority of delivery men find the estimated delivery times provided to be inaccurate or hard to meet.
- 2.Many delivery men experience issues with the current route allocation, forcing them to use personal navigation tools.
- 3.There is a strong desire for a more integrated system that enhances communication and provides real-time updates.
